"Tourism in Oman: National and Global Insights and Practices"

17th - 19th February 2025

Sultan Qaboos Youth Complex for Culture and Entertainment

Sultanate of Oman – Salalah

His Excellency Sultan Haitham Bin Tariq

“Throughout our country’s glorious history, the world has known Oman as an influential cultural entity, which promoted the region’s growth and prosperity, and security and peace. Generations were keen on taking turns in upholding its banner so that Oman’s message of peace would continue to roam the world, carrying a great heritage and noble goals, building and not demolishing, reproaching and not distancing. We are committed to sustain this approach, with you and by you, so that we could together perform, with firm will, our cultural role and historic mission.”

Introduction

The Sultanate of Oman has an exceptional position in the world of tourism. It combines a unique blend of natural beauty and rich cultural heritage. Tourism is one of the most vital and promising sectors in the Omani economy, contributing significantly to sustainable development and enhancing cultural and social exchange. The importance of tourism in the Sultanate of Oman is evident in the need to adopt advanced visions and practices that contribute to strengthening this sector and achieving national and global aspirations. The balance between national and global aspects of tourism development is vital. It contributes to strengthening national identity and achieving sustainable development at the global level.

With the increasing challenges facing the tourism industry in the world, the Sultanate's role comes in promoting the sustainable development and sustainability of this sector so that it remains a beacon that leads efforts towards achieving a bright future vision for the tourism and hospitality sectors in Oman.

The 1st International Conference for Academics and Professionals in tourism and hospitality aims to explore and exchange ideas and visions about the future of tourism in the Sultanate of Oman, at both the national and global levels. The conference will be held from February 17 to 19, 2024, at the Sultan Qaboos Youth Complex for Culture and Entertainment in Salalah and brings together experts, researchers, and practitioners in the field of tourism and hospitality from around the world.

The conference addresses multiple topics related to the development of Tourism and Hospitality in Oman, with a focus on modern strategies and trends to achieve sustainability and excellence in this sector. The conference will be an opportunity to exchange knowledge and experiences among participants and discuss the challenges and opportunities facing the tourism industry in light of global developments and economic and social changes.

Through the participation of local and international professional and academic institutions, the conference seeks to provide innovative solutions and develop effective strategies to confront the challenges facing the tourism and hospitality sectors in Oman within the framework of Oman Vision 2040 and the National Tourism Plan.

Vice Chancellor's Message

I am pleased to welcome you all to 1st International Conference on Tourism and Hospitality, under the slogan “Tourism in the Sultanate of Oman: National and Global Visions and Practices”, which is organized by the University of Technology and Applied Sciences in Salalah in February 2025. The university's efforts to enhance its vision, mission, and goals, which aim to provide high-quality education, promote scientific research, and provide community service, culminate in this conference.

Organizing this conference reflects the university's commitment to its effective role in developing the tourism sector, which is one of the most important economic sectors in the Sultanate. It also reflects our vision for the university to be a center for innovation, knowledge, and academic excellence by hosting an elite group of academics, professionals, and experts from different parts of the world to exchange ideas and experiences and discuss the challenges and opportunities facing the tourism and hospitality sectors.

Tourism is more than just a way to boost the economy; it is also a tool for building bridges between cultures and enhancing understanding between peoples. Through this conference, we seek to highlight best practices and visions that can contribute to achieving sustainable development in the tourism sector, in line with the goals of Oman Vision 2040.

I extend my sincere thanks and appreciation to all the participants, organizers and supporters of this conference, and I wish everyone a rich and fruitful experience. The success of this conference depends on your valuable contributions and constructive interaction, and we are confident that you will enrich discussions and contribute to strengthening the Sultanate's position as a leading tourist destination at the national and global levels.

Welcome to Salalah, and we wish you an enjoyable stay and a successful conference.

Dr. Said Hamed Al Rubaii
Vice - Chancellor
University of Technology and Applied Sciences

About UTAS

The University of Technology and Applied Sciences (UTAS) is a higher education institution with 11 branches strategically spread across the Sultanate of Oman. In accordance with Royal Decree No. 76/2020, the university became the largest higher education institution in the Sultanate of Oman by merging the Colleges of Technology, the Colleges of Applied Sciences, and the College of Education in Rustaq. Oman Vision 2040 propels this merger, emphasizing the National Education Strategy 2040, the Scientific Research Strategy, and the Innovation Strategy. To keep pace with modern challenges, priorities, and needs.

The university currently has approximately 50,000 students in diploma, advanced diploma, and bachelor's programs in various disciplines, including pharmacy, engineering, applied sciences, business studies, information technology, photography, fashion design, education, applied biotechnology, mass communication studies, international business management, and design. This expansion has made the university the largest in the Sultanate of Oman.

The university strives to enrich the learning experience for students by closely engaging them in high-quality, student-centered learning, stimulating training, and applied research. At UTAS, we strive to make every effort to provide great support to our students throughout their studies, not only until they graduate, but also for the long period towards their professional destinations, as we are also concerned about the professional growth of graduates.

The university's vision is to pioneer technological and applied education, as well as contribute to the development of a sustainable, knowledge-based society. Its mission is to build competitive and innovative capabilities by providing a stimulating environment and effective engagement with society and industry to promote excellence in learning, research, and innovation.

Message from Conference Chairman

I am pleased to welcome you all to the 1st International Conference of Academics and Professionals in Tourism and Hospitality (ICAPTH), which will be held under the slogan "Tourism in the Sultanate of Oman: National and Global Visions and Practices" in the city of Salalah, Sultanate of Oman, during the period from February 17-19, 2025. This conference represents a valuable opportunity to bring together an elite group of experts and specialists in the field of tourism and hospitality to exchange ideas and experiences and discuss the challenges and opportunities facing this vital sector.

This exceptional event will be an ideal platform to communicate, exchange ideas, and explore the opportunities that tourism can offer to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals 2030 and Oman Vision 2040. The ICAPTH conference, which brings together researchers, scholars, educators, and stakeholders in the tourism sector from different parts of the world, aims to explore the prospects of this new era in the tourism and hospitality industries, promoting sustainable tourism development. Through this conference, we seek to shed light on visions and practices that can contribute to enhancing the Sultanate's position as a distinguished tourist destination at the national and global levels.

Tourism is more than just an economic industry; it is also a bridge connecting cultures and peoples. Therefore, this conference represents a unique opportunity to communicate, exchange ideas and experiences, and discuss the challenges and opportunities facing this vital sector.

I would like to thank all the participants and organizers for their great efforts in making this event a success, and we look forward to fruitful discussions and valuable contributions that will support the development of the tourism and hospitality sectors in our country.

Welcome once more to Salalah, one of the most beautiful cities in the Sultanate of Oman, as well as to the ICAPTH conference.

Dr. Ahmed Bin Ali Al-Shahri
Assistant Vice - Chancellor
UTAS – Salalah
Conference Chairman

Conference Idea

The idea of holding the conference comes in response to the university's vision and mission towards leadership and excellence in technical and applied education. This vision extends beyond the realm of higher education to encompass other fields of global significance. The objective is to boost the university's academic and research capabilities and aid in the realization of Oman Vision 2040, which encompasses the National Tourism Strategy. The conference highlights recent trends and issues in the field of tourism, especially after the COVID-19 pandemic. The conference aims to explore fresh perspectives in the tourism and hospitality industry within a competitive setting, considering the swift effects on this sector and connecting them to worldwide trends and policies in this domain, thereby guaranteeing the tourism sector's sustainability and realizing the Oman 2040 Vision. The conference reflects the university's commitment to research, education, and local and global engagement in order to provide innovative insights, enhance academic and institutional sustainability, and also constitute an important starting point for bringing together local and global academia and industrial practices and providing specialised programs and activities that contribute to enhancing the academic and institutional excellence of the university. The conference will be organized with the participation of local and international institutions, colleges, universities, and institutes. The conference aims to foster and create inventive approaches to tackle the social, environmental, and economic issues confronting the tourism and hospitality industries in the Sultanate of Oman.
